Piney River Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

ED JENNINGS

'Uncle Ed' Jennings Dies In Home Fire

An early morning fire Sunday claimed the life of "Uncle Ed" Jennings, of Pamplin , a well-known and popular elderly man who had worked at a number of different jobs for numerous householders in the area.

"Uncle Ed" was found outside his burning home by Pamplin fire chief H. J. St. John following an alarm about 3 a.m. Sunday from Stuart Farrar, who first spotted Jennings's log house afire in Pamplin. The small house was destroyed.

According to Howard Williams, of Pamplin, "Uncle Ed" was about 90, although he did not reveal his exact age. He chose July 4th as his birthday. Says Williams, he was "perfectly honest."

Williams says that "Uncle Ed" was courteous and friendly, but could hold his own in an argument. He says that "Uncle Ed" was for law and order" even if it meant that he had to carry a shotgun, himself.

Woodrow Williams, of Pamplin estimates that "Uncle Ed" may have been 95 years old and that he at one time worked for Williams' uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paulette.

He will be missed, say the residents. He was a real "fixture" in the life of Pamplin.

Ed Jennings, 89, of Pamplin died early Sunday morning as a result of fire at his home. He was born July 4, 1882.

Surviving are eight children, five daughters and three sons, a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren and a host of other relatives and friends.

Graveside funeral services will be held at the Daughter of Zion Baptist Church cemetery on Thursday at 4 p.m. with the Rev. R. G. Jones officiating. West Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

MARBLE VALLEY

Geological faults in the upper reservoir area of the proposed Marble Valley pumped storage project have necessitated the withdrawal of Virginia Electric and Power Company's application to the Federal Power Commission (FPC) for a construction license.

Explorations at the site have established that active sinkholes and layers of sand are present in the upper reservoir floor. Badly weathered rock is located in the area through which tunnels would have connected the upper and lower reservoirs.

LOG BUILDING BURNS MONDAY

A log building on the Sites property, Rt. 647 near Spout Spring was destroyed by fire about 10:30 p.m. Monday evening. Appomattox volunteers left the pumper and tanker to the scene, but the building was too far gone to save, reports chief S. R. Woodridge.

This fire followed an earlier call, about 7 p.m. by Appomattox firemen responding to a grass fire at Evergreen.

ABOUT MEDICARE

Mr. William J. Vinson, District Manager of the Lynchburg Social Security Office reports that a check with local hospital authorities has brought out the fact that a high percentage of Medicare patients fail to bring their Medicare cards with them when they enter the hospital.

This is a matter of concern to hospital authorities and to the Social Security Administration, continued Mr. V... hospitals usuall... peak admission pe... Fall and Winter ... to carry the Medi... the person creates ... processing of Medi... and extra work for ... missions offices.

All of this can be ... the simple process ... the Medicare card ... or wallet instead of ... a "safe place."

What's New In Crafts?

"Paper pottery" is "what's new" among craftsmen as Mrs. V. A. Staten (Dixie) of Rt. 613, Appomattox, holds a cookie jar or canister made with paper. "It's fun and easy to work with," says Mrs. Staten. The material begins as a roll of paper tape and can be molded to many shapes. At Mrs. Staten's shop, Dee Crafts, there are many treasures to see and work with: miniatures, paper mache', custom-made candles plus supplies for the beginner and the expert. Another "something new" is the "Cherub Box" featured in a March "Family Circle" magazine. Readers who want to duplicate this have only to call or visit Dixie for all the details.
